Didsbury Dry with Big Majority

The vote on the question whether the people wished the importation of liquor to be stopped was an overwhelming one at the Didsbury polls. It was expected, but as for the whole province was concerned the majority in favor of the dry was not anywhere near as large as was expected and will be much smaller than the vote given in 1915. The majority against the importation of liquor into the province on Tuesday evening was given as approximately 5,763 which is thought will be nearer 5,100 to 10,000 when the returns are completed. When the vote was taken in 1915 the majority in favor of the Liquor Act against the bar was 30,536 votes, with 10,000 voting and a large number of men over 60. The total vote cast in Didsbury was 411, of which number 275 voted yes (dry) and 136 No. (Wet) on the question. This includes east and west Didsbury.

Both Parties are Negotiating

London, Oct. 26.—(P) Formal negotiations between the government and the executive committee of the miners' federation in an effort to settle the coal strike were opened this morning. It is believed that the federal government, which had been in progress since 2 o'clock, proved satisfactory in some measure at least.

The miners' executive body had previously been in conference over the government's new proposals and as a result of its deliberations it decided to begin formal negotiations.

The new proposals are that the miners should not take further increases based upon coal values. That in the future action upon coal will depend on production. If production falls below a certain level, the price of coal will be increased to the limit of the miners' association prices will be maintained.

Under this plan the miners will receive more money, would co-operate with the owners in plans for the increased prices.

Married

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Levee, on October 25th when their daughter Lena, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Kalding of Olds. Only relatives and intimate friends were present. They were married by the Rev. Albert Clement.

St. Eloi Meeting

The Oct. meeting of the W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Darnum with seven members present.

It was decided to hold a "Scholarship Social" in the Elton School on Nov. 4th, the proceeds to go towards paying Norman Brown's hospital bill and part toward the St. Eloi funds.

The next meeting, Nov. 2nd, will be held at the home of Mrs. A. H. Debon.

The Rev. Mr. Shaw will hold his usual church service in the Rugby School next Sunday, Oct. 24th, at 3 o'clock, donations of vegetables, fruit and flowers are asked for, after which to be sent to Didsbury Hospital.

The Women's Institute will meet at Mrs. Reibers Thursday Nov. 11th, at half past two. Paper by Mrs. Hargal on Friendship, told by Mrs. P. R. Reed, roll call, community singing. All ladies welcome.

Red Cross takes Children's Home

At the request of the N. Y. of Kin Association of the City of Edmonton the Alberta Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society has taken over the children's home in the Northern City, which was established and has hitherto been conducted by the Association in the Northern City. The institution is similar in character to the Children's Home at Brinkburn, near Calgary, which the Red Cross took over from the Great War Veterans' Association some months ago. Mrs. Evans, chairman of the Management Committee of the Home, will continue in that office. About thirty children are now in residence at the Home.

The Home has been admirably conducted from its foundation. As the function of the N. Y. of Kin Association is gradually diminishing and it has been decided that the Home should be placed under the Red Cross Society, which is a permanent institution, now undergoing its open an aggressive phase. The members of the Association will co-operate with the Red Cross in the management of the Home.

Some Tales of the Indians

AND THEIR HALF BROTHERS

RELATED BY ONE WHO DWELT LONG AMONGST THEM—PICTURESQUE TRADITIONS AND LEGENDS OF THE NATIVES OF THE WESTERN PLAINS

FARMING AMONG THE INDIANS—"AGIN THE GOVERNMENT"—"SIMPLE FAITH IN REALITY"—"POINTED CAP" AND HIS GREAT AGE—ENJOYING A HONEYMOON IN HIS HUNDRETH YEAR.

By Totose Apwe
(All rights reserved)

My first duty among the Indians was to sow a bag of wheat in the spring of 1884, on a garden-patch farm, belonging to Kay Katch Asinee—"Almost a Stone."

This man and his brother, Kee-waydin, "The North Wind," were the only members of Star Blankets band who made anything like an honest effort to earn a livelihood by cultivation of the soil.

A Few Wives

The chief himself did not take kindly to farming, being content that his three wives should supplement the semi-weekly issue of government rations by toiling on the white man's woodpile in the winter and snoring zophers for home consumption in the summer.

The Leading Families

The treaty had been signed on behalf of these Indians by the famous chief "Ready Bow." His death occurring shortly after coming to the reservation, his oldest son, Star Blanket, was appointed chief, with four headmen in his council. These were his two brothers, Ochoo and Powasson, (each of whom indulged in the luxury of two wives), his brother-in-law, Skitch-e-a-wahsis, who was married to three of the chief's sisters, and Sakitway, or "Coming Over The Hill," who also counted three wives among his possessions. Owing to his great age he was exempt from work.

The two brothers, Ochoo and Powasson, were successful hunters, so that their families lived in comparative comfort, if not affluence.

It was difficult at times to resist the impression that there must be a strain of Irish blood in these men's veins, for the reason that in all their talks with the agent or the farm instructor, they were always "agin the government."

A Peacemaker

The only single exception was "Sakitway," a harmless old medicine-man, to whom the Indians listened with attention, and respect so long as he confined his talks to matters touching their social or moral life, but any attempt on his part to inculcate a kindly feeling towards officialdom fell on deaf ears.

Sakitway was always a strong advocate of peace and of the observance of law and order.

No Vision

He held in very high esteem the late Father Hugonnard, who was fond of telling a story about the old headman which serves to show that he, like the other men of his band, had never caught a vision of what their part should be in the new life of transition from hunters of the plains to tillers of the soil.

The Father's Promise

On the occasion of one of Father Hugonnard's visits to the File Hills in 1886, Sakitway complained that a promise made by the Father years before had not been fulfilled.

Simple Faith

On being pressed for particulars he replied:

"Well, Prayer Man, my long time brother, and very good friend, years ago, soon after we made a treaty with the White Mother, you urged us to settle on a reserve and to give up our life on the plains."

"I feared to follow your advice because I could not see where I should find food to keep me alive."

"You told me the Great Spirit would have me in his keeping and would never let me suffer from hunger."

"I trusted your word."

"Only yesterday I wanted food and put my platter on yonder rock and asked the Manitou to fill it and went home to my tent."

"At sundown I went for the food you had promised—My dish was empty."

An hour later Father Hugonnard related the incident to the agent, who immediately sent his interpreter to the old Indian's teepee with an extra ration, thus answering his prayer, though not exactly in the way Sakitway had expected.

Double Names

In accordance with a tribal custom, this Indian had two names, and in later years was known more familiarly as Chepoo Stotin, or "Pointed Cap."

As affording a rather amusing specimen of comparative philology is the interesting fact in connection with the latter name that it is really a corruption, of the French word "chapeau" and the Cree word "astotin" each meaning "at hat." Combined as "chapeauastotin" we have literally "Hat-hat."

The remarkable facility with which the Cree language lends itself to elisions and abbreviations, readily accounts for the corruption of this hybrid into "Chepoo Stotin."

This Indian "from time immemorial" through winter's cold and summer's heat, wore this form of headgear attached to his coat, both being made from the same "blanket" material.

My aged friend once explained to me, in reply to my query that his reason for adopting this pecu-

Pithy Paragraphs For Busy People

THE WEEK'S NEWS IN TERSE TERMS

Committed Suicide

Mrs. Anna Schwartz, fifty-six years old, after a futile hunt for a flat in New York, in which she and her husband and son could live, hanged herself in a room at 148 Beach, 93rd St., Rockaways, Queen's.

Indians Flourishing

The nearing of winter finds Canada's Indians in a prosperous condition, well provided with food and money, according to D. C. Scott, the deputy superintendent general of Indian affairs, who has just returned from a visit to several reserves in British Columbia and the prairie provinces. The Indian farmers in the west have all had good crops this year and those who make their living by fishing and hunting profited by the high prices of fur last winter to such an extent that they are not worrying as to the likelihood of lower prices this year.

Fine Crop Yield

R. J. Russell, who is inspector for the Haron and Erie Mortgage Company, has returned from a trip through the Alliance and Killam districts in Alberta in which he learned that conditions are most satisfactory throughout the province. Mr. Russell visited one farm of 1,250 acres from which has been threshed this fall no less than 28,000 bushels of wheat, 5,000 bushels of oats and 2,000 bushels of flax. At present prices for these grains, the wheat would bring $57,980, the oats $2,500, and flax $5,500, or a total value of $65,980 for the crop. This is equivalent to $52.79 per acre. With this record it should not be hard to convince prospective settlers of the sound basis for the claims that central Alberta offers agricultural advantages not surpassed, if indeed they can be equalled, anywhere. Mr. Russell also reports having spoken to a farmer who had threshed 1,106 bushels of oats from 11 acres.

Army and Navy Veterans Confer

A number of delegates from all parts of Canada, including members of the ladies' auxiliaries, are in Regina just now for the provincial and Dominion conventions of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association this week. Re-establishment problems, fisheries, qualifications, and the case of disabled members, are coming up as the most prominent subjects before the convention.

Terrible Collision Near Paris

Forty-two persons were killed and 100 injured recently when the Paris and Nantes express ran into a freight train at the Paris suburban station of Versailles. Most of the victims were workmen.

Saskatoon Star Changes Hands

It is reported that a very important newspaper deal is almost on the point of consummation. It is said that Sir Clifford Sifton who owns the Winnipeg Free Press and interests associated with him, have acquired from W. F. Herman the Saskatoon Star. Mr. Herman, who, over a year ago, established the Border Cities Star in Windsor, Ont., and has recently established there the Border Cities Sun as a morning paper, has, it is reported, acquired options on newspaper properties in Hamilton and Toronto. If the present deal goes through, therefore, Mr. Herman will in future concentrate his activities in Ontario. Until recently he was owner of the Post, Regina, but disposed of that interest a few weeks ago. He has for several years been proprietor and publisher of the Saskatoon Star.

Operations Unnecessary

It has been demonstrated by Professor P. Delbi recently that treatment of the appendix by an anti-gangrenous serum is successful and that hereafter operations on the appendix will be unnecessary.

A Youthful Centenarian

It is recalled that in the summer of 1900 this aged Patriarch took unto himself wife number four. The happy couple, comfortably ensconced in a chariot whose wheels emitted the usual creaks and groans, spent their honeymoon wandering through the popular centres of Lorfie, Pheasant Forks and neighboring towns—the bride occasionally cutting wood and performing other light tasks for the settlers, defraying by this means, the expenses of their wedding tour. Like his progenitor, Abraham, Pointed Cap was an optimistic about the future. In an interview he expressed the hope that though not as young as formerly he might yet be followed by offspring who in turn would become stalwarts like himself.

HIGHLAND

The Bergen road sharks are very kind to the Highlanders this fall as they have escaped large lumps of mud into the road. We suppose it is for the purpose of keeping the warm in cold weather while driving over them.

Most of the men from Highland who went threshing are back again. No doubt the snow we had was the cause.

Mr. Edward Elmsdale of Bergen is busy these days riding the range, also all the hills and valleys, as his herd of cattle is about fifty short.

Mrs. Brown and son and Mr. Pat. nells daughter of Calgary spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Parnell of Highland.

Joe Parnell and Harvey McKnight have just finished a three mile wire fence on A. McKnight's land.

Grandpa Rhoad's mail box is filling rapidly with mail. He must be on the road home, and may bring an aeroplane this trip. His horses are in great shape this fall, but how about Fra's green feed?

We have another new neighbor here who hails from Montana, so we look for the sod to fly next spring. to work on Swinges threshing outfit rather late for starting this year.

Several of the ranchers sold cattle, or rather gave them away last week, to Frank Beck of Didsbury.

There is money in farming these days selling beef for 5 cents and paying 65 cents for bacon, who would not be a farmer?

The snow in Highland has fine only some of the people said it felt the hills rather sudden and of course they had to come home.

We notice that it takes some of our boys three days to make the trip to Didsbury. Johnny Walker must be busy again.

A fellow near Highland was heard to say that threshing was fine, but they could not buy much on $8.00 per acre we are wondering what this one could do on $1.10 and bully and tacks, Grumble I guess.

We are all looking for Grandpa Rhoads again soon as he will need to start up a round-up soon.

HALLOWEEN

It will be remembered that last year several young men of the town celebrated Halloween by doing considerable damage to public and private property.

Property owners have requested the town council to take the necessary steps to prevent a recurrence of the wanton destruction of property, and special constables are being requisitioned for this purpose. It is to be hoped that their duties will be light and a warning is given that while the council does not desire to curtail the innocent fun which is usually associated with the season of Halloween, they intend to prosecute any person caught damaging or removing property.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND

There will be service in the Church of England on Sunday next, October 31st, at 3 p.m.

The Rev. Herbert Gray, who resides at Oids, is in charge of this district and will be glad if members of the Church of England will make themselves known to him.

The service which was held on October 10th was attended by a nice congregation, and arrangements are being made to hold frequent services in the church.

FORGING

FOR NEAR A SCORE OF YEARS THE U.F.A. HAS BEEN FORGING AHEAD.

SOME MISTAKES HAVE BEEN MADE BUT THERE HAVE BEEN ERRORS IN METHOD ONLY—ALWAYS THE OBJECTIVE, CLEAR CUT, WELL-DEFINED HAS BEEN IN VIEW.

URGED ALWAYS—BY A NEED ONLY TOO EVIDENT, AND BUILDING ORGANIZED STRENGTH ON ORGANIZED STRENGTH—STEADY, WELL ORDERED PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE.

LOOKING ALWAYS TO THE FUTURE—TO THE BUILDING OF A TRUE DEMOCRACY WHEREIN THE REAL WORKER WILL RECEIVE ADEQUATE RECOMPENSE FOR HIS TOIL—CONSISTENTLY, WITHOUT FALTERING, THE CHAIN HAS BEEN FORGED LINK BY LINK.

THE ORGANIZATION HAS NOW REACHED A POINT WHERE ITS VERY STRENGTH ATTRACTS THE LOYALTY OF MANY MEN, BUT ITS TASK CANNOT BE COMPLETED UNTIL IT HAS THE ACTIVE SUPPORT OF THE RURAL POPULATION 100% STRONG.

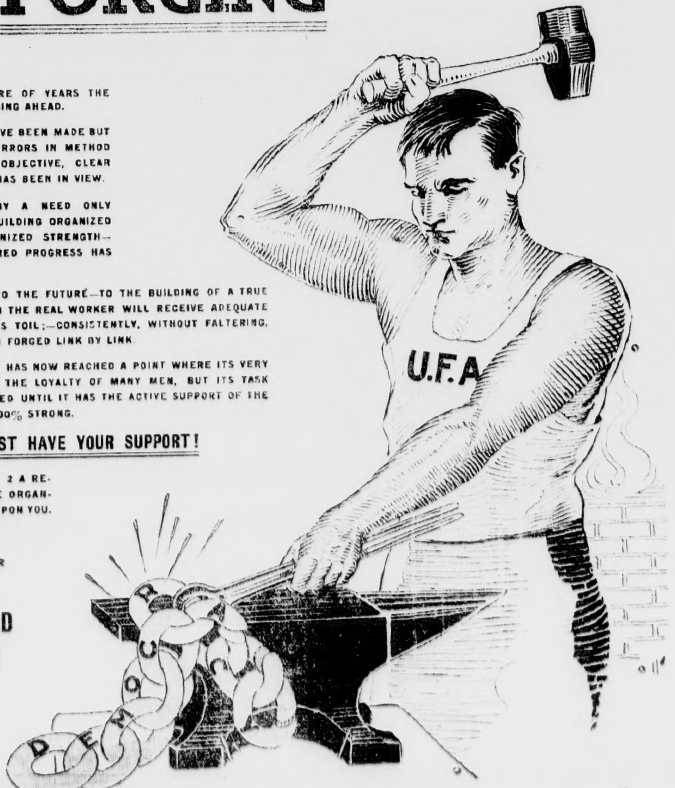

IT MUST HAVE YOUR SUPPORT!

ON NOV. 1 OR NOV. 2 A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE ORGANIZATION WILL CALL UPON YOU.

WELCOME HIM.

HE WILL ASK FOR A CONTRIBUTION.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES

There's Nothing Like a Daddie
I do not want a puppy-dog, although I know they're nice. For my papa can romp with me in ways that quite suffice. He'll bark just like a St. Bernard, and like a mustif growl, And you would feel like laughing when he imitates its howl.

I do not want a pussy cat. I like cats pretty well. But daddie beats them all, and plays better than I can tell. He'll purr and hiss like anything; his meowing you should hear. It makes more noise than any cat, and, oh, I shake with fear.

I do not want a pony small. Of course they're lots of fun. But what's the use of ponies when you're my dear daddie's son? He takes me on his shoulders broad, or puts me on his knees. And sets me off a-galloping as madly as you please.

In short, I don't want anything as long as daddie's here. He's pretty much of everything and don't get out of gear. And best of all the things boys have, I'm sure you'll find it true. There's nothing like a daddie who will always play with you.

My Dear Boys and Girls:

As I understand from your letters that some of the girls are interested in crocheting, I last week printed an easy pattern of lace which some of you might like to copy. It is a very easy pattern for a pointed yoke, and would make a nice present for someone at Christmas time, which reminds me that it is only two or three more months to Christmas and from time to time I shall print directions for making Christmas gifts. I am sure you all like to remember your friends at a Christmas time and everyone does appreciate so much more the gift which is made by one's very own hands.

The weather at this season also goes to remind us very forcibly that winter is almost here, and as we wrapped our coats around us this morning, we had wonderful visions of the snowland prairie as it would soon appear. I printed another letter from one of our girls and hope it will encourage all you have not written to me before to do so. I know that you have been very busy getting back to school, and no doubt have a good deal to do in preparing your lessons each day, but you will now be settled for the winter and will have more time to spare, and I shall certainly look for many nice letters from my nieces and nephews. I am particularly anxious to know how some of you get to school when the ground is covered with snow and whether you enjoy your journeys to and fro. Do you take your lunches with you? Or do you walk back and forth? You know there are many children in other countries who would think it very wonderful to cross the snow covered plains to go to school. They read about Canada, about the snow and the prairies and they envy the boys and girls in the great out of doors of the west.

Now as ever with best love to you in your work and your play and trusting to have a letter from each one of you very soon, I remain,

I am sure you will all agree with me that we are having just delightful weather just now, and I hope you are taking full advantage of it, because I am afraid that during the long winter months there will be many days that you will not be able to go out. However, there are many interesting things you can play and do in the house and I believe that you will be happy even if it is too severe to play out in the snow. Of course I know that there are some days, even in the winter, when the sun shines so is quite a nip in the air, yet it is very pleasant to be outside, and I do hope that there will be many of those days for your sakes.

It is almost unbelievable, when we look out on these lovely bright days, to realize that before long the landscape will be covered with snow and that it will be too cold and dreary quite often to go out of doors, but still you know if we did not get the bad weather we should not appreciate the good, and I suppose you have noticed that many times. Some things and some people are pretty and some are not so pretty, but we love those that are not so pretty just as much because they are just as necessary in the world as the pretty ones, and if there were no plain things and people, the pretty ones would become monotonous, don't you think so? So it is with the weather. I am quite sure that if the sun shone brightly all the time, and the birds sang sweetly all the time, and the flowers bloomed and never faded, it would become very monotonous to us.

I am printing another very interesting letter which I have received from one of our boys, and in two weeks' time I am going to tell you the name of the prize winner in our column for September, and I want you to remember that there is an October competition now and that you are all welcome to try for the prize during the month of October. I shall print one of your letters each week in our corner and I hope that a good many of you will write to me as the more letters we get the more interesting the competition is. I am sure you all understand that; then the following month I think we must have some other kind of a competition, a story writing, or a puzzle one, perhaps. However, I will tell you all about it later on.

With much love, I am as ever,

Affectionately,

AUNT BETTY.

P.S.—Remember very soon we must choose the best letter sent in during September from our boys and girls. You will be too late for the September competition, but if you send your letters in soon you will have an opportunity to join in the one for the month of October. Address your letter, Aunt Betty, 903 McCullum Hill Building, Regina, Sask.

Letter to Aunt Betty

Swanson, Sask.,
Sept. 25th, 1920.

Dear Aunt Betty—
I have one sister, she is sleeping now. I like the prairie very much. Last spring I found 8 birds' nests. I like to ramble over the prairie. We have two pigs, one colt, four horses, and eight hens. I like drawing very much. I drew humpty-dumpty for the school fair. I got second prize for writing. I also got first prize for reading. Lawson beat in basketball, the score was 30 to 10. There is a cold wind blowing now. I can ride the pigs, but fall off every time. I am eight years old.

With love,

from JOE COOPER.

Games

Buttercups and Bees.

In this game there should be an even number of players, say twelve, six girls and six boys; six buttercups and six bees. The buttercups sit or stand on the lawn in a row, each holding a cup made of a piece of twisted paper in the shape of a fool's cap. A number is pencilled on the inside of each, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6. The bees then stand a short distance away, each with a little ball of crumpled paper. These are numbered as the cups are, but before beginning the game the boys should exchange balls with each other so that the buttercups cannot possibly tell the number of any boy's "bee." For the same reason the girls should exchange cups. This being done, and the lines formed again the paper balls or bees, are tossed all at once into the air towards the buttercups; the higher the better and the buttercups do their best to catch them. Any player whose cup number is the same as that on the bee is caught, changes places with the boy who threw it and the last couple to do this ends the game. The winners are the couple who have become buttercup or bees in turn, the greatest number of times during the game. As some may find it difficult to catch the bee in the cup now and then, it is quite allowable to pick it up from the grass where it has fallen and drop it in. The exchanges of the cups and balls should take place every time the bees are returned, as there would be very little fun in the game if the players of one side knew the numbers of the others.

It is always safe to send a Dominion Express Money Order. Five Dollars costs three cents.

Follow My Leader

The leader must be daring, or it will not be much fun to follow him. The players take their places behind each other. Away goes the leader through the most difficult places. If any follower fails to do the task set by the leader he must retire to the back of the row, and when the fun is over it is sometimes found that the one who started last has worked his way to the second place and in this way comes next to the leader.

I Spy

The players divide into two parties. One party stays away and hides, the other stays at home with closed eyes. Presently they call out, "Coming once, coming twice, coming thrice," and if no one answers, "Not ready," they begin their search. When any searcher catches a glimpse of a hider, he or she calls out "I spy" giving the name of the person found and the place of hiding. At the cry the one discovered leaves his place and does his best to touch the seeker before he can get home. Only seekers who get safely back may go out again to look. Keen eyes and swift feet are necessary for all searchers, or they will have little chance of spying a hider and reaching "home" before he bounds out of his den. If the hiders fail to catch half the number of those who seek, then they must take their turn in "home." This is a livelier game than hide-and-seek, though it is something the same.

Filling The Gap

In this game all the players but one form a circle by holding hands and the larger the circle the better the fun. The player left out walks round and round the outside of the circle and presently touches someone on the back. Directly he has done this he starts to run round the circle, while the boy he has touched does the same, leaving a gap where he stood. The game is to see who can reach this gap first, and the one who does so fills it. The other walks round and touches someone else, and so the game goes on.

NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

Catch Ball

Any number of players can join in this game. It consists in tossing the ball from one to another, but it may be made more exciting if no special plan is followed as to whom the ball is to be thrown next. This keeps everyone on the alert, and a very good trick is to look at some other player than the one you intend to throw to. This may always lead to a slip on the part of the catcher.

Throwing the Baseball

This game is good practice for boys. A place from which to start the throw should be marked by pushing a stick into the ground. If two are taking part in it, to see who can throw farthest, it saves time and running about if, after the first throw, the second player takes his stand where the ball has fallen, and throws back from there. Other sticks or twigs should be used to mark the distance of each throw.

Nine Holes

Though this game is called Nine Holes, the number varies with the number of players. The holes are made in the ground side by side and are numbered onwards from 1, one hole belonging to each boy. Every hole has three or more small stones, called eggs, placed in it.

Ten or twelve feet away a mark is made and one of the players rolls the ball from this mark towards the holes beside which the rest of the players are standing. Directly the ball drops into a hole all the players scatter as fast as they can, except the owner of that particular hole. He snatches out the ball and throws it at one of his running playmates. If he hits his mark, the boy who is hit loses one of the eggs from his hole, and in turn throws the ball at another player.

Everyone who is hit loses an egg, and the boy who the thrower misses. The player who is last to lose all his eggs is the winner.

Games to Play in the Hay Field—Hide-and-Seek

There are all sorts of games to be played in the hay. One is for a number of children to hide in the hay and then their companions identify them by the feet that are sticking out. It is very much more difficult than you would think to identify each other by the feet.

Three Legged Race

A three legged race in the hay causes much amusement. A good winning post is the rake. There is no set rule as to how the players are to get to the winning post; some walk and some run and some think they get there quicker by crawling.

Hopping Race

The players stand in a row and when the signal is given they start off and must hop all the way on one foot. If they put their second foot to the ground more than three times they are disqualified.

ONE OR TWO SWEETS THAT GIRLS CAN MAKE

French Cream Without Cooking

Break into a bowl the white of one or more eggs, according to the quantity of candy you wish to make. Add an equal quantity of cold water, then stir in confectioner's sugar until it is stiff enough to mould into shape with the fingers. Flavor to taste then form into balls, cubes or lozenge shapes and lay on waxed paper to dry. They may then be coated with chocolate, or combined with dates, walnuts, figs, cherries, just the same as with the cooked fondant.

Chocolate Caramels

Put into a granite saucepan one cup of finely broken or grated chocolate, one cup of molasses, the same amount each of rich milk and sugar and two heaping tablespoonsful of butter. Stir over a slow fire until thoroughly mixed, then boil slowly until it cracks when dropped into ice water. Turn into greased tins and mark into squares before the mixture becomes cold.

Butter Scotch

One cup of New Orleans molasses, one cup of butter, two cups of powdered sugar and a pinch of soda. Boil until it craps when dropped in cold water, then pour in this sheets to cool.

Cocoanut Cream Candy

Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add one-half cup of milk and a cup and a half of sugar. Heat to the boiling point and cook twelve minutes, taking care that it does not burn. Push back on the stove, add one-third cup of shredded cocoanut and a half teaspoonful of vanilla. Beat until the mixture is creamy, pour into a buttered pan, cool and mark into squares.

The Personal Side

PROMINENT WESTERN CHARACTERS—SOME INTERESTING ANECDOTES OF PEOPLE WE ALL KNOW

PETER HOURS.

Many old timers around Regina and Fort Qu'Appelle and Prince Albert, will remember the stalwart figure of Peter Hourie who for many years was the official interpreter of the Indian Department. He was a giant of a man, tall, broad and well set-up and in the old days when the buffalo thronged the prairie and officers of the Hudson Bay Company were lords of the plains, Peter was one of the most valued servants of the fur corporation. When the writer first knew him he was a fine, handsome figure of a man although he was then on the elderly side of middle age. He had the intelligence and energy of his Scotch ancestors and the dignity and self-respect inherited from a native mother. He told me once that he had been born in the stone fort at Red River. His father was an Orkney man and his mother a Snake Indian who had found her way, with her family from the western plains to Fort Garry. He was employed when quite a young man as a hunter for the Hudson Bay Company. Unlike many of the other western natives he learned to read and write and later was employed as postmaster at one of the outlying posts that came under the jurisdiction of the famous Robert Campbell, who was chief factor in charge of the Swan River department. Whilst acting in this capacity he was sent out to locate a western post for the company. The buffaloes were being pushed further westward year by year and for a long time Fort Ellis at the junction of Qu'Appelle and the Assiniboine rivers, was the furthest western post. It is true that in the days of rivalry between the two great fur companies, prior to their amalgamation in 1821, the Hudson Bay had been an establishment of both the companies at a place called Fort Qu'Appelle. This place is about eighteen miles south of what is now Qu'Appelle station. The North Westers must have maintained a considerable establishment there because we find from the records that such important wintering partners as MacDonald of Gairth and Daniel O'Rourke made considerable sojourns there. The Hudson Bay Company also had a post which at one time was in charge of William McKay, the grandfather of Hon. Mr. Justice McKay of the Court of the King's Bench. Mr. McKay had a considerable task to hold the Fort against the attacks of his rivals in the fur trade and on one occasion when he was absent on a hunting trip to the plains he buried it down. On his return he rebuilt his establishment and threatened to kill any North Wester who dared lay a finger on it. With the amalgamation of the companies in 1821 Old Fort Qu'Appelle seems to have been abandoned and the business was done from Fort Ellice and Swan River. In the early sixties, however, the late Archibald McDonald, then a young clerk in the employment of the Hudson Bay Company, was sent out in charge of a small establishment in the neighborhood of old Fort Qu'Appelle. It was not considered suitable for a permanent establishment and Peter Hourie was commanded to find a permanent location. He picked upon the beautiful site by Fishing Lakes where the village of Fort Qu'Appelle now stands, and he erected the first buildings there of the Hudson Bay Company. Shortly afterwards he left the service of the fur corporation and engaged in trading on his own account. The Hudson Bay Company frowned upon Free Traders and just about this time, Thomas McKay, who still lives at Prince Albert, also left their service. The fur company was hard put to it to obtain their own and obtain the fur from the Indians against the competition of two such men as Hourie and McKay.

Sometime before this Hourie was one of the men selected to accompany Dr. Rae on his famous overland trip to the Arctic, which resulted in finally setting at rest all doubts as to the fate of the Franklin expedition. Shortly after the expedition left Fort Garry, however, Hourie, but his foot badly whilst chopping some firewood and was reluctantly forced to abandon the expedition. He married when a young man, a daughter of the well-known Indian family of Whiteford, and raised a family of sons and daughters, who in size and dimensions might have been sons of Anak.

Mrs. Hourie figured in rather a remarkable event. Some time in the late sixties there was a great hunting camp of natives and half-breeds on the south bank of Little Arm river, about twelve miles from the present site of Lundin. She was sitting one evening in her camp and was reading from the pages of an old almanac which some hunter had carried in his baggage. She discovered from it there was an eclipse due on the following day. She accordingly told the Indians that at a certain time the sun would be darkened and there would be a shadow over the earth. They laughed at her. Sure enough when the eclipse did come along, they were utterly overwhelmed and despite the fact that she explained the circumstances to them, the people of the plains always afterwards regarded her as being possessed of some supernatural gift.

In 1885 Hourie was appointed the official interpreter to General Middleton and accompanied him on his march to the Saskatchewan from Fort Qu'Appelle and saw most of the fighting. We have told elsewhere of the exploits of his son Tom who succeeded in carrying despatches from General Middleton to Colonel Irvine of the Mounted Police, at Prince Albert, through a country infested with hostile half-breeds. It was also Tom Hourie and a man named Armstrong who brought the rebel leader Riel into General Middleton's camp at the conclusion of hostilities. He was a giant of a man, about six and a half feet in height and broad in proportion. He went with Norman Campbell from Regina to the Yukon in 1898 and a few years ago died near Dawson.

During the fight at Batchoe, when the firing was hot on both sides there came a temporary lull in the fighting. General Middleton instructed Hourie to summon the rebels to surrender. He accordingly raised himself up and in the Cree language, addressed the half-breeds and Indians advising them of the futility of resistance. A few bullets pattered around and someone called out "Who is speaking?" Chee-Web-Can Abscess (the little mosquito hawk) cried the voice and the firing ceased. Then another voice which Peter recognized as that of his own brother-in-law, cried out: "Shoot the traitor," and the burly interpreter had just time to duck when a hail of bullets spattered all about him. His services during the rebellion were invaluable and he was afterwards appointed to the position of official interpreter of the Indian Department at Regina. In the reorganization of the department under Clifford Sifton, 1897, he was removed as Farm Instructor to Crooked Lakes Agency, north of Broadview. His family remained in Regina in a comfortable and modest home on the corner of Albert and Dewdney streets. He died in Regina, a few years ago, after a long, stirring and honorable life. One of his sons, Harry, is ranching in the Willow Bunch district. He was a fine example of a sturdy, intelligent, faithful Indian of the country, who grew up under the auspices of the Hudson Bay Company.

COLONEL J. H. CUNNINGHAM

The announcement has been made that Colonel J. H. Cunningham has resigned the position of Chief Inspector of Fisheries in B.C. for the Federal government, after a service of nearly thirty-eight years. Mr. Cunningham has been an able and conscientious public servant and has done a great deal to promote the fishing industry of Canada in Pacific waters.

We are not a piscatorial people in the prairie country and the chief interest that this announcement will have for most of our readers is the fact that Colonel Cunningham's wife is the widow of the late Nicholas Flood Davin, who was the founder of the Regina Leader and a Federal member for the great constituency of Western Assiniboia. Mrs. Cunningham, who was an Ottawa lady, married Mr. Davin in 1895 and until the time of his tragic death, was his constant assistant and companion in all his activities. She accompanied him on his journeys throughout his widely spaced constituency, which at that time ranged from Balgonie to Medicine Hat, and enjoyed a measure of popularity among the people of the west almost equal to that of her distinguished husband. Few, if any, women have ever occupied the same place in the esteem and respect of the people of Western Canada. One of her brothers, Graham Read, is a well-known citizen of the Saskatchewan capital.

Intimate Little Tales

SOME EXPERIENCES OF HUMAN INTEREST UNDERGONE IN EVERY-DAY LIFE BY EVERY-DAY PEOPLE

THE FIRST EUROPEAN FAMILY IN CANADA—A BRAVE CANADIAN GIRL AND HER LOVER—TRAGEDY IN THE WILDS—A SAIL AT LAST.

In an old French castle, sometime during the sixteenth century there lived the Sieur de Roberval and his beautiful niece Marguerite. Marguerite was a brave, high-spirited girl and had been brought up in the careful manner of young French girls, educated in a quiet convent, and from this convent she came to her uncle's little court, where she took her place in all the quietude and festivities usual in the homes of the French nobility of that time. Marguerite delighted in hunting and could use a gun almost as well as a cavalier.

The Sieur de Roberval was appointed by King Francis the 1st, Viceroy of Canada, and when he was able to follow Cartier, the discovered of these unexplored regions, he took with him his lovely niece, she being a favorite with him because of her courage and daring.

There was, however, among the young cavaliers of France, one who loved Marguerite and she returned his love. As he was too poor to marry he did not dare to ask Roberval for Marguerite, but when he found she was to accompany her uncle across the sea, he resolved to go too and volunteered to join the viceroy's party. They set sail and during the long voyage Roberval discovered the secret of the lovers and was very wrathful with them both as he considered they had deceived him and he had other and more brilliant plans for his beautiful niece.

He was so angry that he planned a terrible punishment for her. Indeed it is hard to realize how a man with a spark of humanity in his nature, never to speak of natural affection, could have thought of it.

Near the bleak shore of Newfoundland there is a lone island and it was called the Isle of Demons, as it was said to be haunted by evil spirits whose wails and moans could be heard through the wind and the waves on that rock-bound shore. Here it was that Roberval, turning a deaf ear to prayers and pleadings, landed the young and tender maiden with the old nurse who attended her and four guns as a means of defence from their enemies and of procuring necessary food.

Marguerite's lover in despair at seeing her thus left to such a fate, threw himself into the sea with his two guns and some ammunition, and being a strong swimmer sailed reached the shore. The lovers were then left in that terrible wilderness to their own resources. With sinking hearts they watched the sails of the ship which had brought them thence, disappear beneath the horizon, hoping, but in vain, that the hard-hearted viceroy might relent and return.

It was summer time, the days were long, although even the summers are not very warm in those northern latitudes. The wild fowl were abundant and bears and other animals were occasionally shot. Marguerite and her lover contrived thus, to procure food as well as to secure a supply of skins for the winter.

They built as good a shelter as they could from poles and interwoven branches as they did not know how long their exile was to be, and this was the first European home of which history tells us, in Canada. Sad and ill-fated little home. No doubt when the first shock of finding themselves in such a situation was over, Marguerite and her husband, being young and gay, and full of life, laughed over their adventures and made the best of them. No doubt for a time the rosy spectacles of love lent a bright hue to all their undertakings and hope loomed very high in their hearts that their trials were but temporary. Often they sang gay snatches of French songs, but in time the wildness and the solitude told upon their spirits and they sang no more, and as the shadows of evening fell upon them, and the storm howled about them, they remembered the old stories of the demons with which the place was said to be haunted and trembled with superstitious fears.

Sometimes bears and other wild hungry animals crashed through the brushwood and tried to break their shelter, and Marguerite would shudder and become pale and cling closely to the lover for love of whom she had been cast there.

In time a little child was born to Marguerite. A brave one, indeed and a sorry welcome for the little visitant. The arrival of the babe but weighed the more heavily on the spirits of the young cavalier and his heart broke as he saw his wife deprived of all the comforts which she should have had, battling for her life and that of her innocent child. By degrees his health gave way before his gloomy despair and he became a prey to disease. Marguerite soon had to look her last on his cold form, feeling that her only human stay was gone. Then the little spirit which had selected such an unhappy spot soon winged its flight after its father, and then Marguerite's old nurse died and she was quite alone. Marguerite must have had a wonderful strength of mind and constitution as still she lived on after all the tragic happenings, procuring food with her gun, replacing her old clothing with the skins of the beasts she shot.

Marguerite's times were in the dead of night during the storms that were very frequent when, in the solitude she would imagine she heard fiendish laughter and that malicious spirits were pursuing her. With wonderful control she would mutter prayers for protection, putting her trust in God. Sometimes when the bitter winds raved about the island she would pile on her fire all the wood she could collect and in her fur blankets would sink into sleep. She often lost the sense of her misery in dreams of beautiful France and her old baronial home, and then would awake to find herself alone in that barren wilderness.

Two summers passed and the third winter was almost upon Marguerite when one day, as she scanned the horizon, a sail appeared in the distance. This had happened before, but the sails had almost immediately disappeared just to make her heart-sick with disappointment. This time, however, she piled on her fire all the wood she could find so that the sailors might see the smoke. The fishing barque drew nearer and nearer and the crew were startled to see the smoke rising from the lonely island. As they cautiously drew near they saw a female figure in strange dress, making eager signals to them. When they at last reached the island they found Marguerite almost fainting from sheer joy at seeing her hopes fulfilled. She was so unversed she could hardly explain to them how it was that she came to be there. The rough sailors took pity upon her and did all they could for her comfort and took her with them when they returned to France.

After such a strange exile Marguerite reached her home and native land where she was greeted by kind friends who tried to make up to her for the sorrows she had suffered, and to blot out her many sad memories. In later years her strange adventures became to her almost like the story of a troubled dream, but as long as she lived she had many wonderful incidents to tell of her life on the desolate island.

Then the Fun Began

SAYS FARMERS AND SEDITIONISTS ARE IN LEAGUE

MEIGHEN SPEAKS AT GRANBY.

Believes Farmers' Party Has Joined Hands With Malcontents and Restless Elements.

Granby, Que.—Addressing a large audience in the open air here, Premier Meighen once more treated of the tariff question and largely reiterated his announcement of the previous evening. At the outset he explained that he was not making any attack on the sitting members for the constituency of Shefford, George Boivin, who, being deputy speaker, was outside of politics, but he wanted to address them as citizens in Canada.

Mr. Meighen reiterated the previous statement as to the policy of the Government in prosecuting the war and the subsequent policy of the re-construction period. As far as he was concerned, he abided by what had been done, with the problem of conscription, during the war, and the re-establishing of soldiers having been solved, the Government was now facing another issue, that of the tariff. Of this question the Government was being challenged, although the people had decided on it three or four times already. The Premier proceeded to show how the Farmers' party was committed to free trade and that the strength of that organization was enhanced by the undoubted fact that it had joined hands with and dragged behind it, all the malcontents and restless elements of the country.

"I do not say that the leaders of the Farmers' party, much less their followers, want to overturn representative government," said the Premier, "but I do say that those with whom they have aligned themselves, as for instance, the Winnipeg and Vancouver secessionists, had as their goal the upsetting of the system of government in Canada. They almost achieved success in these efforts and, consequently, I say the addition of the group to the Farmers' party constitutes the party which is the most formidable antagonist of the present administration."

Mr. Meighen went on to demonstrate how Canada suffered from an adverse trade balance with the United States, and argued strongly for a tariff, protective of industries and Canadian workers. He emphasized the increasing industrial importance of this province, which, he said, was rivalled only by Ontario and not surpassed by any province.

Tokio.—Two Japanese have been sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment on conviction of an attempt to sell documents stolen from the Yokohama Naval Station to Americans, according to newspapers here.

Transfer Track to be Replaced

Railway Board Orders Re-installation of Transfer Track at Conquest.

Ottawa.—The re-installation of the transfer track at Conquest, Saskatchewan, between the lines of the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways, is ordered by the Railway Commission in a judgment written by Commissioner J. G. Rutherford and concurred in by the other members of the board. The work is to be completed not later than November 1 of this year, on the understanding that in the event of the situation being later relieved by the finding of the Canadian National lines with the Grand Trunk Pacific Region and Riverbank subdivision, the matter may again be brought before the board.

Hearings in this application, which was made by the Saskatchewan Stock Growers' Association, Moose Jaw, were held at Saskatoon, Regina and Moose Jaw, and it was shown that the livestock industry in the district affected was seriously handicapped by the back-haul necessitated by the abandoning of this transfer track in December, 1917.

HEART SO BAD WAS NOT SAFE TO LEAVE HER ALONE

Miss Eva P. Vatemann, Krugersburg, Ont., writes: "I feel that I must write and tell you of the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. About four years ago I was taken terribly bad with my heart, nerves and fainting spells, and was down in bed for about six months. I doctored with two different doctors and seemed to get better, although the fainting spells would not leave me. I would take such terrible falls, wherever I was, that it was not safe to leave me alone at any time. At last I decided to try them. One day noticing the advertisement of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them, and before I had taken more than two boxes I could see they were helping me. I have taken about ten boxes, and am almost cured of those terrible spells. I sincerely feel that your medicine has proved a blessing to me, and I advise any one troubled with their heart to try them, as I am confident they will find relief."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The J. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Big Salmon Pack

Seattle, Wash.—The 1920 salmon pack of Alaska, British Columbia, Puget Sound and the Columbia River will total 6,075,000 cases, valued at $20,000,000, according to revised estimates made public by the Pacific Canned Fish Brokers' Association. British Columbia's contribution is 1,000,000 cases, compared with 1,300,455 in 1919.

ISSUE REPORT ON SHOOTING OF COUN. LYNCH

SHOT RESISTING POLICE.

Prominent Limerick Sinn Féiner Meets Death at Hands of Constables.

Dublin.—An official report issued concerning the shooting of Councilor Lynch, a prominent Limerick manufacturer, in his hotel room in Dublin has been issued. It says that 12 soldiers accompanied by two members of the Royal Irish Constabulary went to the Royal Exchange Hotel to arrest Mr. Lynch. As they opened the door to Mr. Lynch's room, a shot was fired at them and the military replied to the fire, Lynch falling dead. He was shot through the mouth.

The report states that he was violently resisting arrest when he was killed.

Mr. Lynch's home in Kilmallock frequently had been raided. A motor lorry containing six policemen was ambushed near Limerick by nearly a hundred men. Two military lorries came to the rescue. The attacking party fired and two soldiers are reported to have been killed; 20 arrests were made. Two houses in an adjoining village were burned, supposedly as a reprisal.

The military authorities have commenced an investigation of the Balbriggan shooting. A police inquiry will be held at which citizens of Balbriggan having knowledge of the trouble will be urged to testify. The "Black and Tans" in the vicinity of Balbriggan, have been ordered confined in barracks.

The damage done by the "Black and Tans" in Balbriggan, in their raid, after the shooting of two police officers in that town, is estimated at £200,000. Among the dwelling destroyed by the raiders were the residences of Mrs. Frank White, sister-in-law of Eamon de Valera, and Lawrence Flanagan, brother-in-law of de Valera.

Eight armed and masked men entered the Ulster Bank, Dublin, and held up the staff. They escaped with a considerable sum of money.

"Suits and undersuits" was the label pinned to the clothing of a man found in a field in County Carlow.

Canada Has Many Phones

Is Second Among Nations in Use of Telephone Service.

Ottawa.—An interesting comparison showing the popularity of the telephone in Canada has been made by officials of the Bell Telephone Company in connection with that company's application for increased rates, now before the Board of Railway Commissioners.

The figures compiled show that Canada stands second only to the United States in the matter of per capita use of the telephone. The Postmaster-General of Great Britain, in a recent report, gave the figure for Great Britain as two telephones for every hundred of population. On the same basis the United States has 35 telephones per hundred. Canada comes next with 108 per hundred people; Sweden, 64; Norway (1917), 44; Germany (1914), 22; France, 10; Italy (1917), 0.3.

Labor Party Plans Fight in Winnipeg. Winnipeg.—Intent on making a fight for the municipal and all the aldermanic offices and school trustees, the Dominion Labor party took the preliminary steps in its civic elections campaign when it instructed the executive to call all the membership for nominating candidates.

Ontario Crop Averages High.

Toronto.—Probably the largest fall wheat crops in the history of the province of Ontario were reaped this year by the farmers of the province. According to the statistics compiled by the Department of Agriculture, the averages are far above previous years, on an acreage of 726,371 acres.

Millerand is Chosen

Favored as Candidate For Presidency to Succeed Deschanel.

Paris.—Premier Alexandre Millerand was chosen as a candidate for the presidency to succeed President Deschanel, who resigned as chief executive of the republic because of ill-health, by the joint caucus of members of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies in the Senate Chamber.

Two of the candidates who were prominently mentioned as possible successors to Deschanel declared themselves out of the running. The men were Leon Bourgeois and Raoul Portet, the presidents respectively of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies. Before former Premier Clemenceau left Paris on his hunting trip to India, he said, according to the Petit Parisien, that he regarded Premier Millerand as the man best qualified for representing France in the eyes of foreign people.

Traffic in Drugs

Far-Reaching Regulations Affecting the Drug Traffic in Canada.

Ottawa.—By an order presented in a special issue of the Canada Gazette some very far-reaching regulations affecting the drug traffic in Canada go into force immediately. Every doctor and druggist within the Dominion is to be circulated with a view of rounding up drug addicts, and measures are to be adopted which will make the carrying on of illicit drug traffic practically impossible.

That the government health officials are sincere in their effort to clean up the drug evil and also that they are enjoying nothing short of wonderful success is shown by some figures given out. Compared with the three months ending June 30 last year, the amount of cocaine imported into Canada for the same period this year has dropped from 2,376 ounces to 605 ounces. Codeine has dwindled from $12,284 worth to $5,816 worth. Morphine has dropped from 11,608 ounces to 3,973 ounces and opium from 7,931 pounds to 992 pounds.

Claim Bolshevik Victory

Reds Occupy Series of Villages in Grodno Region.

London.—An official communication sent out by the Russian Soviet Government at Moscow, says: "In the Grodno region our troops repulsed enemy attacks along the whole of the front, and on assuming the counter-offensive occupied a series of villages. Red troops have occupied Stary-Charudyn and Buharka and have seized the whole region."

IS IT THOUGHTLESSNESS?

The following communication was handed us for publication this week and as it touches on a procedure that is caused more by thoughtless-ness than perhaps anything else, we publish it in the hope that now such a matter has been brought to the attention of the public it will be heeded and that in the future no one will be able to leave this town with the impression that we are a disloyal or unpatriotic people.

Editor Pioneer:
Dear Sir:—
What is it about the singing of the national anthem that causes the majority of our patriotic Didsbury proprietors to grab coats and hats and rush for the door as though the house were on fire? From the balcony of our opera house on the evening of Saturday last we were surprised as well as astonished to note that the crowd below, instead of standing motionless while singing the national anthem, was one wringing mass of human beings, each apparently trying to get outside this door before the end of the last line. Surely the greater part of our population know better than this. We might also remark that those guilty were our most prominent citizens. Surely those who are interested in the welfare of our town are ashamed when they think of the reputation which must be given to it by the troops who perform in the many towns of our country. Let us see to it in the future that we at least are not guilty of this breach of etiquette.

AN OBSERVER.

FARMERS ARE WARNED

Information has come to the U.F.A.
Central Office that some unauthorized persons are soliciting contributions for the big membership drive that is being planned. A report came in over the phone from the Slavely district that some one was at work in that district soliciting contributions for the drive, unknown to the official workers.

The U.F.A. Central Office would like to warn farmers that anybody who is authorized to solicit contributions in connection with this drive is supplied with official receipts and that every canvasser has a written authorization from the District Captain, who is usually one of the best known men in the district, so that there should be no difficulty in promptly ascertaining whether a canvasser is bona fide, if there is a doubt in the matter.

Never advertise just to help the publisher. This is not kindness to him, nor fairness to yourself. We want to see every rural merchant a liberal advertiser, but it must always be done with the idea of helping his own business along. When you look upon it as charity to the publisher you are insulting him and hoodwinking yourself.

What Chieftain Quality Means to You

In buying livestock, you depend partly upon the reputation and character of the man from whom you buy, combined with the pedigree of the stock, for your protection.

Similarly, in purchasing Chieftain Brand lumber, you are protected by our reputation and the Chieftain Brand "Pedigree." This reputation and past record assures you that Chieftain Brand lumber will be uniformly good.

Chieftain quality, therefore, means protection and complete satisfaction to you. Let us prove it; call at the yard; see Chieftain Brand lumber in your next building.

AROUND THE TOWN

Dr. G. M. Reid is paying a visit in town for a few days.

Miss Taylor of Calgary spent the week end with her friend Mr. Alf Smith.

Mrs. L. C. Coffey and daughter are visiting with her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Omond.

Mr. Jack Bailey of Cochrane was visiting with his sister Mrs. J. A. Russell over the week end.

Mr. J. M. Brett of the Union Bank staff in Calgary, was transferred to this branch as Assistant.

Miss Ruby McNaughton who is teaching in the Mount Royal College in Calgary was home at the end of the week.

Mrs. MacIver and DRI have returned to Didsbury to take up their residence here again. You can't keep away from a good town.

There will be a dance in the Opera House next Wednesday evening. Good music will be furnished. Admission 1.50 per couple.

The U.F.A. and Dairy meeting is to be held in the hall on Tuesday November 2nd, at 2pm. Every member is requested to attend.

Mr. Everard Clarke was brought home from the Calgary hospital last Tuesday. We hope to see Everard up and around making drugs again soon.

We understand there are away days more in which to get soaked, pickled and stewed or in other words, to accumulate a glorious jaundice. Better get busy.

Mr. A. G. Howe who has just returned from Peace River, reports that the weather there is far ahead of ours here as they have had no frost there yet.

Geo. Weiglesworth is putting on a special display of Electrical Goods and Fixtures all next week, and the people of Didsbury will have an opportunity of inspecting a number of useful electrical devices which are more or less of a novelty in Didsbury. The store will be open each evening of the week from 7:30 till 9:30 p.m. for demonstrations.

When the Harvest is Gathered Make Your Credit Good at the Bank

If your Bank has carried you over the year, your first duty is to clean up there. The man who does that each year never has trouble getting credit.

Give the Bank a complete statement of your affairs so that you may obtain the fullest credit to which your standing entitles you.

Not What You EARN - - But What You SAVE!

Remember it is not what you earn but what you save that distinguishes you from the improvident. You may require a little capital to purchase a business, a farm, or a home of your own; or you may wish to give your children a fair start in life.

It is remarkable how quickly your savings accumulate when wisely invested.

5 per cent. Savings Certificates are issued in denominations of $5, $10, $25, $50, $75, $100, $500, $1,000 and $10,000 and are payable on demand.

Gold Bonds are issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000, and bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly, 1st May and 1st November.

Here you have all the essentials of the highest class of investment—an unimpeachable security, high interest return, prompt payment of interest.

These Bonds may also be purchased through any recognized bank, bond house or insurance agency in Alberta.
